

SOCIETY FOR MILITARY PSYCHOLOGY

Division 19 of the American Psychological Association

Division 19 Awards Nominations Due 6 July 2022

The Society for Military Psychology (Division 19, APA) recognizes outstanding contributors to and achievements in Military Psychology through a series of annual awards. The 2022 award submission deadline is 6 July 2022 at 23:59. All nominations should be submitted through our awards management platform at <https://division19.awardsplatform.com/>. Please register for an account and follow the instructions to nominate deserving colleagues. Please note that self-nominations will not be accepted for honorary awards.

The Awards Committee is accepting nominations for the following awards:

- John C. Flanagan Lifetime Achievement Award: The John C. Flanagan Lifetime Achievement Award recognizes career-long achievements in military psychology. These contributions may be in the form of excellence in research, service, product development, and administration. Any of these must clearly reflect advancement of the profession of military psychology, improved effectiveness of military psychology systems, or service on behalf of the welfare of military personnel.
- Julius E. Uhlaner Award: The Julius E. Uhlaner Award recognizes outstanding contributions in research on military selection and recruitment.
- Charles S. Gersoni Award: The Charles S. Gersoni Military Psychology Award is for outstanding contributions to military psychology. These contributions may be in the form of excellence in research, service, product development, and administration. Any of these must clearly reflect advancement of the profession of military psychology, improved effectiveness of military psychology systems, or service on behalf of the welfare of military personnel. The Gersoni Award can be awarded to an individual or team.
- Arthur W. Melton Early Career Achievement Award: The Arthur W. Melton Early Achievement Award is given to recognize outstanding early career achievements in military psychology, normally within five to 10 years of entry into the field. These outstanding contributions may be in the form of excellence in research, service, product development, and administration. Any of these must clearly reflect advancement of the profession of military psychology, improved effectiveness of military psychology systems, or service on behalf of the welfare of military personnel.
- Military Psychology Distinguished Mentor Award: This award is intended to recognize exceptional efforts of individuals who invest in the development of psychologists and other professionals interested in the psychological study of the military through service, education, research, teaching, and training. Mentoring can be that of mentees in any level of professional achievement.
- Outstanding Contributions to Military Psychology by a Non-Psychologist Award: This award recognizes significant contributions to military psychology by a non-psychologist.
- Robert S. Nichols Award: The Robert S. Nichols Award recognizes excellence in service by uniformed clinical psychologists to military personnel and their families.
- Division 19 Presidential Citation/Special Recognition: We accept nominations throughout the year for outstanding service or contributions to Division 19 and/or military psychology in past years.

Awardees will be recognized with plaques at the APA Convention in August.

Division 19 members are also encouraged to apply for Division 19 Member Research Grants and Member/Affiliate Member Travel Awards using the awards management platform. These awards have later deadlines.

To submit a nomination or an application, register for an account at <https://division19.awardsplatform.com/> and follow the instructions. Descriptions of the awards and the requirements for nominations or applications are on the site and appear when a specific award is selected. Please contact Dr. Maurice Sipos at pastpresident@militarypsych.org if you have questions or issues submitting a nomination.