

Division 19 has been pivotal to my career, so serving as your Member-at-Large would allow me to repay some of your investment in me while advancing our interests. I came up the ranks in Division 19 since 2013, first as a Campus Representative, later as the SAC's Virtual Projects Officer, and finally as the Communications Committee Chair. When in these various roles, our teams rolled out webinar training, launched two podcasts series, led the website redesign, and oversaw considerable growth in our list serve and social media reach. I've been Active Duty Air Force for six years and was fortunate to serve as the Director of Psychological Health and ADAPT Program Manager at Keesler AFB. Presently, I'm completing a clinical neuropsychology fellowship at Brooke Army Medical Center and have orders to Travis AFB.

I agree with Dr. Brim's intent to formalize mentorship within Division 19 and to enhance our CE offerings and centralized distribution. Mentorship is one of our strengths, and a robust infrastructure for formal mentorship would expand our reach and participation. Augmenting our existing CE strategy with a central platform would provide increased value, especially for members not in clinical practice.

Division 19 is an enviable position because all our candidates are strong, and the Division is in good hands. If selected as your Member-at-Large, I commit to supporting the Presidential initiatives, advancing our strategic plan, and serving in whatever capacity the Division needs.
